BRITISH INTERNATIONAL STUDIES ASSOCIATION

XXV Annual Conference Bradford 2000
(18-20 December)

hosted in association with

THE DEPARTMENT OF PEACE STUDIES
UNIVERSITY OF BRADFORD

WELCOME TO BISA 2000

On behalf of the Department of Peace Studies at the University of Bradford, the local management committee, and the national BISA organisers (Ms Pauline Kelly, Dr Justin Morris and Professor Chris Hill), I am delighted to welcome all participants to the 2000 millennial conference of the British International Studies Association.

As can be seen from the programme, there are more than three hundred papers and presentations on offer at this year's conference, organised into eighty-nine panels. The range is impressive and there should be something here to satisfy all tastes and predilections. Richard Rosecrance will deliver the plenary address on 'Security and the Rise of the Virtual State' at six on Monday evening, and Peter Hain, Minister of State at the FCO, will give the Conference Dinner speech on Tuesday evening.

What can I say about Bradford? As the tourist brochures put it, it is 'a surprising place'. Once the wealthiest city in Yorkshire (when T.S. Elliot wanted an image for a cocky bank clerk in his poem, Prufrock, he spontaneously came up with 'one on whom assurance sits like a silk hat on a Bradford millionaire'), Bradford has since hit hard times. But there are many fine buildings (including the 'Little Germany' warehouse area by the Cathedral, and the Old Wool Exchange, now Waterstone's bookshop). The National Museum of Photography, Film and Television is worth a visit, as is Saltaire, a late nineteenth century model village built by the cloth magnate, Titus Salt, which also houses the David Hockney Gallery. Nearby is the Bronte Parsonage at Haworth. Bradford was the home town of J.B. Priestley and Delius, as well as Hockney. The Independent Labour Party was founded at Manningham Mill. There is an awesome Rugby League Club and an improbably surviving Premiership Football Club. Finally, this is, of course, the acknowledged curry capital of the world.

PhD and MA students from the Department will be on hand to guide you, identifiable by their T-shirts.

I hope that you will all enjoy your time here.

Oliver Ramsbotham,
Department of Peace Studies,

TRAVEL INFORMATION

The University of Bradford is served very well by public transport with two mainline rail stations (Bradford Interchange and Bradford Forster Square), an international airport and a network of motorways. "Finding your way to the University of Bradford" provides detailed route information.

By Train

There are many frequent rail services from most parts of the country to Bradford Interchange and Bradford Forster Square.
Trains from London King's Cross leave every hour and the journey time is 2.5 hours to Leeds. Change at Leeds for the Bradford Interchange train which leaves every 20 minutes. Some trains from King's Cross are direct to Bradford (Forster Square) but please check times. Delegates should reconfirm the accuracy of these times before travelling. Further details on timetables and fares may be obtained by contacting either the internet site www.railtrack.co.uk or by telephoning 08457 484959 / 0345 484950.
Leeds Station is undergoing a comprehensive development programme. Please check specifically on trains running to Bradford. Please note that those travelling to Bradford from London can obtain cheaper tickets if the train from King's Cross is 'off peak' - after 09.00, but please check first.

Important: Because of recent problems with the rail system, please check with the train station information centre for latest time schedule arrangements.

The two stations are a 15 minutes walk from the University. Please refer to the enclosed map for route information.
Alternatively a taxi should cost around £3.00 and the taxi rank is located immediately outside the main station exit.

By Coach/Bus

Coach Services from major cities arrive into the Bradford Interchange/Coach Station, which is a 15 minutes walk from the University. Please refer to "Finding your Way to the University of Bradford" for route information.

There are frequent services from London Victoria Coach Station to Bradford Interchange Coach Station and the average journey time is 5 hours. Further information can be obtained from www.nationalexpress.com or by telephoning 08705 808080.
